HEAR HIM O'ER THE TUMULT

"Jesus calls us, o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild, restless sea,
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth
Saying, "Christian, follow me."

Many conflicting voices call us today and clamour for our attention. Evil fills our ears all day long, but above the deafening uproars of the complicated age in which we live, comes the still, small voice and the call of the Master, "Follow me."

For ages, God has called men to follow Him. He called, and Abraham went forth to walk by faith. He called at the burning bush and Moses went to Egypt to deliver his people. He called and Isaiah answered, "Here am I; send me." The Master called, and fishermen left their nets to become fishers of men. Christ called near Damascus, and Saul replied, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" The Spirit called, and John Wesley felt his heart strangely warmed and went forth to preach the gospel all over England.

The Master today is calling each of us to follow in His steps. In these days of destruction, the outlook may be dark, the trial may be severe, and the suffering may be great, but if we follow Him all the way and give our hearts wholly to God--then He will cleanse it from all unrighteousness; and fill us with the "peace of God, which passeth all understanding"--that same peace our Saviour had in the darkest moments of His life.

Dear Friends, the master is calling each one of us to use our talents in His Service. Will we like Mary of Bethany "rise up and follow Him"?

GO AND WORK FOR JESUS --T. K.--

Lo, the golden fields are smiling, wherefore idle shouldst thou be?
Great the harvest, few the workers, and the Lord
hath need of thee.
Go and work, the time is waning, let thy earnest
heart reply
To the call so oft repeated--"Blessed Master, here am I."

Take the balm of consolation, that so oft has cheered thy heart;
Let some weary brother toiler in thy comfort share
a part.
Go and lift the heavy burden he has struggled long
to bear;
Go, and kneeling down beside him, blend thy faith
with his in prayer.

Go and gather souls for Jesus; precious souls thy love may win;
Lead them to the door of mercy, tell them how to enter in.
Go and gather souls for Jesus; work while strength
and breath remain:
What are years of constant labor to the joy thou
yet shalt gain?

--Fanny J. Crosby--

TESTIMONY

All have sinned and come short of the glory of God. We were all lost in sin and were doomed, but God commendeth His love towards us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. And that by faith, believing on the Lord Jesus Christ we have eternal life and are saved from our sin.

I thank the Lord that He came to save me from death and for the blessed promise of abiding with Him in glory. How thankful I am that I accepted Christ as my personal Saviour here in Boston. I pray that others also might accept Him as their own. I know Jesus cares for each one of us. He comforts us as we look up to Him asking Him for strength.

I pray that we might be faithful servants, serving our Lord in the best and fullest way we can. He will strengthen and guide us as we walk in the path of life, lighting our way and giving victory over all. No other friend is so kind, true, and tender. He is the best friend for all. I am thankful that I have such a friend. I thank God for His many blessings. "O give thanks unto the Lord for He is good: for His mercy endureth forever." Psm. 107:1.

SONGSPIRATION

The enthralling charms of petite "Miss" Popo Kaneyuki capitvated the appreciative audience at the Singspiration last Thursday evening in Chapel I.

Wearing a turban a la Carmen Miranda and flame-red lipstick and simply but attractively clothed in blouse and skirt, the beautiful (?) "Miss" Kaneyuki led the all-girl cast in presenting two super-colossal skits. One feautred the historic ride of Paul Revere, and the second play was performed behind a screen with only the shadows of the performers in view. It narrated the antics of a modern young couple who are romantically inclined.

The merriment of the evening was followed by a period of devotional service with Miss Raiko Konatsu in charge.

C. E. NOTES

ADULT & Y.P.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Waterman, evangelist, who gave an enlightening talk on "Does God Care?". Lillian Wake sang a solo "In the Garden", and Mrs. Nobuko Mukai was chairman.

SENIORS

An interesting discussion on personal evangelizing was held with Louise Hayakawa as chairman. Many members told of their experiences in speaking to others about Christ and the difficulties that they encountered. The conclusion was that each member should be more active in speaking to friends and leading them to a saving knowledge of Christ.

JUNIORS

A message in music was presented by the girls, which was enjoyed by more than 35 members in attendance Sunday evening.

Ritsu Konatsu enacted a lost soul who seeks and finds the Saviour. The flickering candles in the darkened room and the musical background sung by the girls' choir, added to the beauty of the impressive sketch.

A hymnal drawing by Hideko Tanaka, a song by the sextette, and testimonies by the girls composed the remainder of the program, which was under the chairmanship of Maki Shinoda.

DEPARTURES

God be with you till we meet again, Iris Tanaka and Teruko Fukutome. As the Lord leads you, Iris and Teruko to Chicago, may He fill your lives with new and rich experiences.

O O O O O

YOUTH is a time for enjoyment; for making acquaintances; for study and play; for school and apprenticeship. It is a time of getting ready for the tasks of life. But it is more than all this. It is a time for living real lives now; for performing real tasks.--J. Sherman Wallace.
